MR. MAX KAST IN A MOTOR ACCIDENT

On the afternoon of the 12th Mr. Max Kast, the harness-maker, made his usual motor trip of inspection to his farm at Heatherdown. In the evening he was returning on the Heatherdown road, and had just arrived at the Jasper Highway intersection when he came into collision with a heavily-laden lumber truck, headed west. Max's Chevy sedan was rammed near the forward door on the left side, and the vehicle dragged a short distance. It would appear that the driver of the lumber truck had attempted to swerve to avoid a collision, as his vehicle jumped the grade and landed upside down in the ditch.

Fortunately, no one was seriously injured, all escaping with a few scratches and a shaking-up.

Mr. Kast had his sedan towed to the Service Garage, while the truck was later unloaded and taken back to the City. It is understood the truck, said to have come from the Muttart Lumber Co. and on its way to Wabamun, carried a "five point insurance."

What Modern Engineering Could Do In Changing The Climatic Conditions

Hints of a "made-over" world, thanks to modern invention and natural science, were given at a recent meeting of geographical experts in London.

The talk was by Leopold Amery, former Dominions Secretary of State for Great Britain, who captured his audience's imagination by setting them upon a magic carpet and whisking them to far places at will.

The first stopping place was amongst the foggy fescues of Labrador. Here he bade them look down at the narrow channel skirting the northern extremity of Newfoundland. He pictured to them what engineers there might some day do by damming the straits of Belle Isle, thereby "diverting the Labrador fescues, which now drift inside the Gulf of St. Lawrence," thus "securing an earlier spring for the whole of eastern Canada."

The occasion of the meeting was the launching of the first issue of the Geographical Magazine, a new journal for the advancement of exploration and research.

Scarcely had they time to imagine the vast added area of smiling fruitfulness that might thereby be created, when he whisked them off to Constantinople and showed them the narrow straits of the fast-flowing Bosphorus. This he suggested might some day be closed by a 200-foot high dam, behind which the water would gradually rise until there was restored that great inland ocean which "once included the Black Sea, the Caspian and the Sea of Aral almost to the Afghan border." Neither of these enterprises, he said, was from the purely technical point beyond the powers of present-day engineering.

His carpet fluttered on and hovered next over the 6,000-foot high plateau of Abyssinia. Beneath was the 40-mile-broad Lake Tana. Beyond was the wide Blue Nile stream emerging from the lake to plunge into a 400-mile-long ravine. This ravine, the travellers could see, lay amid mountain ranges towering a mile high above it on either bank. The Blue Nile flowed on a 1,000-mile course to join the White Nile at Khartoum. The damming of this gorge with infinite possibilities of increased fertility for the already rich cotton fields of the Sudan and Egypt he described to-day as even "nearer to practical politics."

The magic carpet sped on faster still. The breathless voyagers were afforded a glimpse of vast swamps of the Upper Nile that Mr. Amery indicated were capable of being drained. They saw from afar the ancient irrigation system of Mesopotamia that might some day be restored. They were shown the possibility of systematic colonization with reindeer and musk oxen of that great prairie region of Northern Canada which their guide reminded them little deserved its present title of "Barren Land." They saw also the fertile clay belt round Hudson's Bay that night, he suggested, he drained and brought under cultivation.

Mr. Amery's carpet must have passed close in its flight, though it did not stop over yet other regions of little less magic possibility. There is the Dead Sea in Palestine, hundreds of feet below the level of the Red Sea with which a low blocked-up gorge still connects it. There are the 6,000,000 acres of "shotter" in Southern Algeria where the western desert of the Sahara is so deep below the level of the neighboring Mediterranean Sea as to make modern engineers dream of a day when they may be able to admit vitalising water to now barren soil.

Canada's First Railway
Plans for the celebration of the 100th anniversary of the opening of Canada's first railroad are being formulated by the Canadian Railroad Historical Association, Montreal. Canada's first railway was known as the Champlain and St. Lawrence Railroad and operated between Levis, Que., and St. John, Que. It was opened by Lord Gosford on July 31, 1836.

Growing Excellent Grapes

B.C. Vineyards Produce Fruit As Good As Italy's

Vineyards yielding grapes as good as any in California or even in Italy are located in British Columbia. Dreams being shared by Kelowna farmers cultivating 100 acres of plantings and of those in Sumas area, include:

Villages and districts springing up in the Fraser valley and Okanagan around central wineries. Independence on a five-acre patch. Sharing with Old World growers rich rewards from the United States, which last year imported liquors and wines valued at $49,000,000.

Fertility of these two potential vineyard regions of the province has been proven.

Experience of F. Beltrame, pioneer grower of the lower mainland, shows Sumas district alone has many areas that fill the bill just as well as Italy, southern France or California. He envisaged the potentialities 22 years ago.

At present he has about 40 acres under crop in addition to one-year and two-year-old vines, on his ranch near Sardis, on Sumas Prairie, near the river at the foot of Sumas mountain.

The grapes are excellent in quality and sell readily in Vancouver, New Westminster and other centres, and are pronounced as good as any imported from California or other United States grape-growing districts.

Grapes average $50 a ton, yields approximately five to eight tons an acre, and small holdings not exceeding 10 acres are advocated. Mr. Beltrame claims, from years of patient experimentation.

Early Diagnosis Needed

Ignorance Is The Cancer Patient's Greatest Enemy, Says Speaker

Only one-third of cancer patients who undergo treatment receive it in time to be cured, Dr. R. O. Davison, deputy minister of public health for Saskatchewan, stated in Toronto.

The chairman of the Saskatchewan Cancer Commission, speaking before the Canadian Social Hygiene Council and the Toronto Health League declared, "Ignorance is the cancer patient's greatest enemy."

Formation of a Canadian branch of the British Empire Cancer Commission in conjunction with the King George V silver jubilee cancer foundation was urged.

Neglect, lack of pain, failure to take the disease seriously, inability to pay for treatment, fear, were some of the reasons given by 200 examined in a Saskatchewan clinic for failure to be examined earlier.

Of 543 practitioners questioned, 124 had never seen a cancer case.

U.S. Indemnity

Canada Agrees To Pay $350,000 In Settlement Of Damages

The United States senate ratified a convention with Canada under which the latter agrees to pay the United States $350,000 in settlement of damages in the State of Washington caused by sulphur fumes discharged from the smelter of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co. at Trail, B.C.

The sum would be for damages suffered prior to January 1, 1932. The convention also sets up a tribunal to decide whether any damage has been caused since that date and so what indemnity should be allowed.

See His First Train

Subpoenaed by Royal Canadian Mounted Police to give evidence in Halifax as a Crown witness, Louis Westhaver, 22-year-old native of Guysboro county, recently realized two of his greatest ambitions—to see a train and a tramcar. He rode in both. The 150-mile trip to and from the Nova Scotia capital was free. The street car excursion cost him 10 cents. 2109

Would Help Dairy Farmer

England Thinking Of Establishing Milk Bars Through Country

Milk may soon be quenching its thirst at Milk Bars.

The idea comes from the Milk Marketing Board.

The board's vice-chairman, Ben Hinds, told farmers at Finsell that milk bars "would enable the touring public to obtain for themselves and their children best nutritious refreshment."

They were contemplating establishing bars in many parts of the country.

Already schools of Britain have their "bars." Walter Elliot, Minister of Agriculture, inaugurated the scheme. Soon he may be "drawing" the first tankard to quench Britain's thirst—and help the British dairy farmer.—London Daily Mirror.

Preparing For The Future

British Television Station To Occupy Wing Of Alexandra Palace

The first British television station will be built at Alexandra Palace it is officially announced.

The B.B.C. wants nearly the whole of the south wing, which comprises the Mosaic suite, the Pillar Hall and refreshment bar." E. A. Cawdron, chairman of the trustees, said.

The postmaster-general stated in the House of Commons in February that steps would be taken to establish a television station in London during the latter half of this year.

Experts emphasize that television will not come into general use so some considerable time. There is no danger of listeners' ordinary sets becoming rapidly obsolete.

Need For Reform Of Immigration Laws Stressed At Social Work Meeting

Carrier Pigeons Unreliable

Manitoba Forestry Service Finds Their Work Of No Value

Carrier pigeons have fallen from their high pedestal. In flight parlance they are termed a "bust" and many will be indignant for re-employment with the Manitoba forestry service when summer air patrols soon away over forest areas of the hinterlands.

Carefully conducted experiments last year revealed the best "homers" were more unreliable than temperamental humans. The majority would not fly at night, and often they objected to day night routine. They can be depended on only for short distances during good weather.

A few of the birds that made assigned runs in any time up to 24 hours will be retained. Many look much longer and their work was practically valueless. Sometimes they refused to fly or delayed a long time before taking off. Not a few failed to return.

Best travel records were flights of 150 miles in three hours, 100 miles in two hours and thirty minutes and 60 miles in one hour and fifteen minutes. A few will be used to report progress of fires and employed during forced aeroplane landings.

A scold's bride, once used to punish talkative women, was sold recently in London for $40.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

ENLARGEMENTS

Enlargements make ideal gifts for friends and relations.

Everything considered, snapshot is a lucky lot. As we have seen, they have the edge on ordinary mortals in the matter of really personal, meaningful birthday or other types of greeting cards. And they have the means of creating gifts of exceptional charm and value.

These particular "mementos" are the snapshot negatives from which beautiful enlargements can be made. If you haven't yet experimented with enlargements, now's the time.

In enlarging a picture you get not only a bigger, more realistic image, but the opportunity to select the best part of any negative for magnification. Suppose you have a good negative of the youngsters at play in the sandbox—a picture which their grandparents would be delighted to have, enlarged, as a gift. But suppose there's something incongruous—a wash on the line, a lawn mower or anything else that doesn't add a thing to the charm of the view—on the right or left of the children. With an enlargement, that distracting, unnecessary feature can be completely eliminated.

Enlargements may be of almost any size. Any good negative, no matter how small, may be "blown up" to make a picture six or six times the size of the original. A sharp 2 1/2 x 3 1/4 inch film will easily give you a sparkling 8 x 10 inch enlargement.

A word about subjects for enlargements—particularly if they're to be used as gifts. Choose pictures that will mean something to the recipients. A shot of Pido trying to climb a tree after Cleo, the cat, will be vastly appreciated by big brother or sister away at college, but it won't mean very much to Aunt Cynthia who doesn't care for either dogs or cats.

Some of the best enlargements we've seen have been landscapes—or seascapes. Mountains usually make good pictures. A friend of ours makes a practice of getting informal shots of his friends which are enlarged and delivered to the various cronies as gifts. All of which simplified his gift problem.

With the coming of summer you will be getting many pictures that will make beautiful enlargements such as a picture of grandmother in the flower garden, or sister standing in front of a tree filled with beautiful spring blossoms.

Opportunities for beautiful pictures are countless at this time of year. So forth with your camera and get them.

JOHN VAN GUILDER

Need for reform of border immigration laws was urged by Miss Mary McPherson, Vancouver, before the national conference of social work in Montreal.

She cited as an instance the case history of the James family. Mr. James was born in United States of English parents. He married an English girl domiciled in Canada while visiting Canada and they went back to the United States. Two children were born in the United States, then the family moved to Canada. Another child was born. Now the family is divorced and the status of the children seems impossible to define, she said, except that the third child has a dual nationality.

In another case a Canadian working in the United States married an American there and had several children. He lost his job with the depression and was deported to Canada. Result is he is living in Canada, unemployed, while his wife and children are destitute in United States—immigration laws separating them.

In a third instance, Miss McPherson told of the trouble an American consul was in adopting a six-year-old Canadian girl. It took two years to complete formalities.

Canadian law had one bright side, lacking in United States, which allowed the secretary of state, on application from welfare societies, to suspend rulings on humanitarian grounds, she added.

"The theory of local responsibility for relief is outmoded," Fred R. Johnson, state superintendent of the Michigan Children's Aid Society, Detroit, told delegates.

"Unemployment passing the need for relief is not a local issue," continued Mr. Johnson. "The causes which produce it are national and international. We have not yet mastered the technique of relationship between the federal government and our states in the field of relief. Governmental machinery is cumbersome. It takes time to develop new methods of organization."

"In these days we are faced with two alternatives," said Prof. Percy Nobbs, dean of architecture at McGill University, in an address on housing. The situation as he described them are "provide assisted housing for the lower wage earners; or let them live in cast-off accommodation, which means in the slums. I am reasonably assured that this second alternative costs so much in sickness, misery and inefficiency that the community as a whole is better off by shouldering the burden of an assisted housing for these wage groups."

Due to the success of the educational campaign and the publicity maintained by Christmas seals, the depression has brought no curtailment of anti-tuberculosis programs in Canada, Dr. G. J. Wherrett, executive secretary, Canadian Tuberculosis Association, Ottawa, explained.

Dr. Wherrett mentioned the funds raised by the Canadian Red Cross Society for the study of tuberculosis among school children and a five year educational program in the Maritime provinces, where death rates were particularly high, to which the Canadian Life Insurance Officials Association granted over $200,000. The large insurance company had contributed funds to send 250 students from Canada to study tuberculosis in Europe.

"Facilities are now available in every province," Dr. Wherrett said, "for carrying out a fair program. It is of interest to note that one province, Saskatchewan, provides free treatment for all tuberculous patients, irrespective of their ability to pay, while another province, Manitoba, has a municipal levy which distributes the cost of indigents among various municipalities."

Radio receivers outnumber telephones in the United States, there being 19,000,000 radios, exclusive of auto sets and homes having more than one receiver, compared with about 11,000,000 home telephones.

SAY AERIAL BASES DOMESTIC POLICY FOR THE U. S.

Ottawa.—Canada had no information the United States government actually contemplated establishment of an air base in Lake Champlain, near the Quebec boundary, but any such step would be regarded as a matter of domestic policy on the part of the United States, Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, senate leader, told the upper house.

He believed the newspaper report, Senator Meighen replied to Senator Rodolphe Lemieux (Lib., Montreal), had been founded entirely on a statement by a member of a committee of the United States congress which was dealing with the subject. A bill was passed by congress and became effective last June 5 authorizing construction of airports and defence areas within which major construction might take place. One of these areas, he continued, was the northwest area and a proposal to construct there was indicated. Beyond that nothing was done.

Senator Raoul Dandurand, Liberal leader, said when behind closed doors an expert of the United States naval department had recommended to congress an airport be built near the Canadian border, and the recommendation had been published, President Franklin Roosevelt had made a statement. The United States president had declared it was beyond conception that his government considered such a safeguard was necessary in view of relations between Canada and the United States. The declaration had been welcomed.

Should Use Franchise

Agnes McPhail Urges Women To Enter Politics

Toronto.—Miss Agnes Macphail challenged the National Council of Women, addressing the council's annual meeting here, to use their franchise and what privileges they possessed.

"How long am I to be the only woman member of the House of Commons?" she asked. "It is time, if the women really care about the franchise, that they got into the work. You can get into the House of Commons when you're a friend of the people of any constituency if you want to."

"It is time the women took their courage in their hands and did the job and cared nothing about what anyone thinks." Miss Macphail said she had been the only woman member of the commons for 13 years.

Gets Curtain Call

Grace Moore Scores A Sensation In London

London.—Grace Moore scored a sensation as Mimi in La Bohème before Queen Mary and a glittering audience of London's society.

She took 15 curtain calls after the final act, which was believed a modern record for historic Covent Garden hall.

The queen wanted to leave after the second curtain call but came back and applauded the United States singer for the third time. As Miss Moore curtained low, the queen bowed and smiled at her.

New Minister Arrives

New York.—Satomot Kato, newly appointed Japanese minister to Canada, and his wife, arrived in New York aboard the liner Majestic. Mr. and Mrs. Kato proceeded to Ottawa by train. The new envoy from Japan for a number of years has been in his country's consular service at London and previous to that at Washington.

Must Write Essays

Moore Jaw.—Five applicants for naturalization were ordered to write short essays on Canadian history by Judge F. A. G. Ouseley in district court, when they failed to correctly answer an oral examination. Upon the merit of their essays will depend whether they are approved or not.

Blind May Receive Pension

Legislation Has Been Recommended For People Over Forty

Ottawa.—Dominion legislation to give blind persons pensions when they reach the age of 40, on the same terms that all needy persons receive the pension when over 70 under the Old Age Pensions Act, was recommended in a report tabled in the House of Commons. The report was made by the house committee on industrial and international relations.

Since the Old Age Pension Act applies in only seven of the nine provinces, Quebec and New Brunswick never having adopted it, the report recommends the provinces be enabled to participate in blind pensions without undertaking provisions of the act in regard to all needy persons.

The report said a check between statistics compiled by organizations interested in the blind and census returns placed the total number of blind in the nine provinces at 3,016 of whom approximately 2,600 would be eligible for pensions.

The estimated expenditure by the government on the basis of present contributions was placed at less than $500,000 annually, with $125,000 required to the end of the present fiscal year. This was apart from administrative expenses. The maximum pension is $20 a month.

No Bids For Bonds

Ontario Government Bond Issue Had No Bidders

Toronto.—The Hepburn government in Ontario met the failure of the financial interests of the country to bid on Ontario's $15,000,000 bond issue with the declaration "There will be no surrender."

For several hours after the noon-hour closing time for the receipt of tenders when it was discovered none had been submitted, the Ontario cabinet was in session. Late in the day Premier Hepburn emerged with a prepared statement in which he charged "the financial interests have conspired and have undertaken to force the government to surrender," and in which he declared "the plain issue is whether the country is to be governed by elected representatives or by the dictators in control of the machinery of money."

The premier offered no details of how the government, having failed to secure an offer for its first major bond issue, would secure necessary money, but he intimated if necessary the facilities of the Ontario government savings offices would be extended and bonds would be sold over the counter to the public.

European News

Cables Now Carry An Increasingly Heavy Load

Winnipeg.—Trans-Atlantic cables carry an increasingly heavy load of European crisis news, members of The Canadian Press were told by their president, Henri Gagnon, of Quebec. To the annual meeting of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, W. J. J. Butler of Toronto reported as chairman of the board of directors, "Perhaps not in many decades has the news that has come over our various wire services been so difficult of interpretation."

Prepare For Inflation

Roger Babson Says United States Should Expect It To Come

Boston.—Roger W. Babson, widely-known statistician, warned United States business men to prepare for inflation. "Quit worrying, forget Washington. Prepare for inflation," he said in a speech prepared for delivery at a luncheon of the Boston chamber of commerce.

"Inflation of some kind surely is coming," he said.

Rural Mail Contracts

Ottawa.—A bill to amend the Post Office Act will be introduced in the House of Commons by Minister of Justice Hugh Guthrie. It was disclosed. It will give the postmaster-general authority to renew contracts for rural mail delivery without calling for tenders.

PIERRE LAVAL

With a nation-wide investigation of the wave of speculation that threatened the stability of the franc already under way, the government of Laval has begun its task of dealing with France's financial crisis.

Show Big Decrease

Bureau Of Statistics Issues Figures On Wheat Storage

Ottawa.—Canadian wheat in store for the week ended June 7 amounted to 200,355,758 bushels, a decrease of 1,169,638 bushels compared with the preceding week, and a decrease of 10,265 bushels against the same week last year, the Dominion bureau of statistics reported.

Canadian wheat in the United States amounted to 9,603,316 bushels, an increase of 223,613 bushels over the previous week, and an increase of 2,969,359 bushels against the corresponding week last year.

United States wheat in Canada was shown as 200,294 bushels for the week ended June 7, compared with two bushels on the same date last year.

Wheat in transit on the lakes was reported as 3,100,258 bushels, compared with 1,483,997 bushels for the preceding week.

Quebec Lumber

Montreal.—The Quebec forest commission is determined to increase export of province of Quebec lumber. L. A. Daigle, chairman of the commission, said here. Mr. Daigle said the commission is handicapped by "certain influences which militate against a more general use of Quebec timber."

Chaco War Ended

Peace Protocol Between Two Nations Is Signed

Buenos Aires.—War between Bolivia and Paraguay in the Gran Chaco jungle district was ended, with the signing of the peace protocol between the two nations.

The protocol was formally signed by the two countries' foreign ministers in the presence of delegates from Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Peru, Uruguay, and the United States to the conference here for mediation.

A neutral military commission will go at once to the front and interview the commanders on both sides establishing the exact positions occupied by their respective forces at the signing of the armistice. Though the protocol provided firing must end within 48 hours, it was reported both countries' capitals already had sent "cease-firing" orders to their troops.

To arrive as soon as possible in the jungle area between the Ilo-mayo and Paraguay rivers, where 100,000 Paraguayan and Bolivian soldiers have died in the three-years' warfare, the commission will travel by plane.

Must Take Rest

The King's Physicians Ask Him Majesty To Rest For At Least Two Weeks

Sandringham.—The King's physicians have ordered him to rest at least two weeks to recover from an attack of bronchial catarrh and fatigue resulting from six weeks of strenuous activities since the start of the silver jubilee season.

Court circles, little surprised the physicians halted the heavy program the 70-year-old monarch had been following, emphasized rest to relieve his fatigue was more important than treatment of the catarrhal ailment.

Evidence the ruler's illness was not regarded as serious was offered by Queen Mary, who left for London by train to keep engagements there, and by the king himself, who went automobile riding over the estate during the afternoon.

Friendly To Japan

Tokyo.—A bloc of four provinces in northern China opposed to and independent of the Chinese Nationalist government and friendly to Japan and Manchoukuo is a possible aftermath to the establishment of Japanese influence in Hopei province, said a Rengo (Japanese) news agency from Peiping.

AUSTRALIAN EXPLORER SAILS FOR HOLIDAY

This happy informal photograph shows Sir Hubert Wilkins, famous Australian explorer, and his wife, aboard a liner bound for the continent. The Polar explorer and Lady Wilkins are off on a holiday jaunt through European capitals.

A NEW BRITISH MOVEMENT FOR CAUSE OF PEACE

London.—A non-partisan movement designed to secure adherence of candidates of all political parties at the forthcoming general elections to the cause of peace and reconstruction was launched here.

A council of action, formed from the ranks of religious, social and political organizations, and supported by noted figures including David Lloyd George, Viscount Snowden and Sir Basil Blackett, a director of the Bank of England, made its plans known in a manifesto. Signed by 33 prominent men and women who form the provisional committee, the manifesto invited all organizations sympathetic to the new movement to send delegates to a two-day convention to be held in London in July, at which a nation-wide campaign will be launched.

The manifesto stressed the objective of the council of action was not a negative one of opposition to the government, nor was it intended to support either of the opposing parties. Its aim would be to secure the support of candidates in all parties so that in the next House of Commons a considerable section would favor "bold reconstructions both in the foreign and domestic fields."

To Unite Family

Dr. Dafos Fredelia Quintiplets Will Be Returned Home Within Few Years

Atlantic City, N.J.—To several hundred wives of Canadian and American Medical Association physicians who expressed particular interest in the mother of the Dionne quintuplets, Dr. Allan Roy Dafos predicted "early reunion with their mother, and union of the entire family" in three or four years.

"To newspapermen who questioned him afterward Dr. Dafos said: 'There is no definite plan, but this is the hope.'"

"How will the influence of the mother be supplied in raising the quintuplets?" one of the women asked.

"Mrs. Dionne," Dr. Dafos replied, "is permitted to see the quintuplets whenever she wishes. She may wash them and do other things."

"It is our hope as soon as possible to have their mother care for them, and in three or four years to have all 11 children together and the family under one roof."

Divorce Applications

Would Have Committee Of Both Houses To Hear Cases

Ottawa.—Suggestion for establishment of a joint committee of both houses of parliament to hear divorce applications found favor from both sides of the senate chamber. A divorce committee functions for the upper house under Senator Lendrum McMeans (Cons., Winnipeg), hears witnesses and reports on its findings. SPORTING NOTES OF LOCAL INTEREST

The weatherman has, during the past week, been having a game all to himself. Softball, baseball and basketball were all dampened down and most games washed and ironed out. Only one softball game was played, when Canaries regained 2d place all to themselves by downing the leading B. Hawks 15-7. All other games were washed out.

The basketballers, Stony Sr. kept up the good work despite some heavy mudding and downed Warden. According to reports, this game was not played for the full time, and as the rain made both teams play indifferently, it is to be hoped they will meet again soon when the weather clears up.

For Sports Day, in baseball, 2 first class teams from Spruce Grove and Onoway are figured to be the teams to beat on that day. Centrals, Brightbank, W-L and one other team complete the baseball layout. First game is billed for 10 a.m.

Four teams are entered in the Sr. basketball tourney—2 being Stony outfits. Local Srs. have led the district in this sport, but W-L will also enter a good team that day.

At least 2 teams are entered in the Jr. basketball race, and all told, it looks like a busy day. The bills are now up, so there's no need to say any more.

There's been quite a bit of stove league talk lately concerning the local baseball league, and especially the local team. Another big topic is just what the July 1st Sports Day committee is going to do with any money they may make out of the day. It seems that many are in favor of forming an athletic club. This is a good suggestion, and the pro and con angles of both these topics are covered below (or elsewhere in this paper).

A game labelled Softball was played Monday Evg. between Pelicans and Benedicts, score being 48-4 in favor of Benedicts. Well, it's have taken 2 out of 3 games with the P's now, and certainly meant business on Monday. Just how far the B's will go in the playoffs, no one can tell; but if they keep a certain man in left field and play like they did in the last game look out you-all who think they may be a pushover.—H.C.O.

"OPEN-MINDEDNESS ON SOCIAL CREDIT."

"But she had on silk stockings, Jack, and high-heeled slippers! They looked so incongruous with all the rest of her. Well, that'll be something to write home about. I wonder if we ought to go inside. Do you know, I—I feel sort of nervous. I wish whoever's coming for us would come and get it over with."

"Let's stay right here, this air's so marvellous. Do you suppose they often get such days in winter? Watch out, sis! Jack lowered his voice. "Catch onto the old dame in the fireman's shirt."

Nancy smiled, eyes following her brothers. A white-haired woman had just emerged from the station. She wore a broad-brimmed black felt hat much like a man's, while her long black cape being unfastened, revealed a middie blouse of flaming red. Her feet were clad in stout, black, laced boots, above which an inch or two of cotton stocking met a dark cloth skirt. An eccentric figure, taken as a whole. "And yet," Nancy whispered as she passed them hurriedly, "she has an air about her. See what I mean, Jack?"

"Yeah," he admitted, "but I bet she's a crank of some sort, just the same. You know, what they call a—character. You'd think—"

Jack paused. The eccentric lady had turned and was approaching rapidly. "I'm looking for two young people by the name of Nelson," she said crisply. "Have I found them?"

The question was as unique as the woman; but in that moment her somewhat mannish countenance was lighted by a contagious smile. Jack actually grinned, while Nancy responded quickly: "It looks as if you had! Did Cousin Columbine send you to meet us?"

A quick nod answered her. "If I dare say you're home as two beards, and so am I. Come in and eat. These Eastern trains always arrive at meal times."

Still talking, she led them toward the station restaurant and motioned to seats at the counter.

"No use in paying a dollar for a dinner when you can get a hot roast beef sandwich for fifty cents. Do you like roast-beef? In my opinion there's nothing better. Do you want coffee? They say it's bad for people, but I've drunk it every day for more than fifty years and am still able to get about it. I'm the waitress, and not giving the young people a chance to answer, ordered: "Roast" beef sandwiches, coffee, lemon meringue pie for three, please; and take your time."

Struck dumb by this breezy individual, Jack stifled a smile and gave his sister a disconcerting nudge. Their escort had flung her cape on a nearby hook, and was a noticeable figure in her broad felt hat and scarlet middie. People looked at her, mildly amused; but there was nobility in her weatherbeaten countenance, and her smile was winning.

Lunch was quickly served, and there being no privacy at the counter, was consumed in silence save for a few questions regarding their journey. As the train pulled away from the station, both boy and girl turned to watch it, feeling a subtle, regretful twinge, as if some good friend were deserting them; and as Nancy resumed her meal their companion asked: "Sorry to see the train depart without you?"

"I suppose I am," replied the girl, and added at this unexpected insight of her mood: "You see, it makes me feel as if the last bright behind us was burning. Everything's so different from Massachusetts; and not knowing Cousin Columbine at all I'm silly enough to be a little nervous."

The woman smiled one of her nice smiles.

"You needn't be. I don't think you'll find Columbine Nelson hard to live with."

"Have you known her long?" asked Jack, hoping to secure a bit of light on the character of their unseen relative.

"All my life. She was born at Pine Ridge seventy-odd years ago in a covered wagon."

"I know," said Nancy. "It's one of our family stories, that, and how she happened to be named."

"Is it indeed! The woman tipped their waitress and glanced up quickly. "Oh, there you are, Mark!"

The lunch room was almost empty now, and as she slipped from the high stool Nancy saw a tall young fellow in a sombrero which he removed as he caught sight of their companion.

Jack stole an amused glance at the girl's glance she had just thrown in interpreting. It said as plainly as if he'd spoken: "Enter the forbidden boy! Take care, Sis!" It was Jack's glance, not the sudden arrival of this unexpected youth which made her color rise, and suddenly, the girl was furious with her brother.

"This is Mark Adam, who is to drive us up," explained the lady. "Mark, these young folks are Nancy and Jack Nelson. Where are your trunk checks, Jack? I presume you've both brought luggage. And where's Matthew, Mark?"

The young man smiled, showing strong, white teeth and a crinkle of humor around the eyes.

"Glad to know you," he stretched out a welcoming hand. "Matt's outside on the truck—too bashful to come in and meet the—er lady, that's it." (As Jack produced the checks.) "You'll find the car parked back of the station. I'll be there as soon as I help Matt with the baggage."

"Mark's a good boy," observed their new acquaintance as the driver strode away. "He and his brother came down to the creamery to-day (they run a dairy ranch), so I roped them in to drive us and get your trunks. There isn't a better driver in Pine Ridge than Mark Adam. Nancy, so you've no call to feel nervous going up the pass. Here we are." They had left the station and were crossing a broad parking space. "You're to ride with Mark, Jack. You boys must get acquainted, and I want a chance to get acquainted with your sister."

Jack grinned as he helped them to their places. He longest to ask if their antiquated cousin had given these instructions in order to keep Nancy and "that good-looker" as far apart as possible. Knowing that something of this sort was in his mind, Nancy threw him a warning glance, and said, as she sat down beside the eccentric lady whom she was beginning to like immensely: "It's queer, but I feel acquainted with you already; and do you realize we don't even know your names?"

The lined face brightened humorously.

"The truth is, I never tell my name if I can avoid it. That's the only grudge I've got against my parends. I've always wondered if their brains weren't affected by the attitude when they inflicted such a disnomer on a helpless infant. My name, you nice young things, is Columbine Nelson!"

CHAPTER VI.

If their unconventional relative had set off a bomb and blown the old Ford touring car into a million bits, she wouldn't have created more surprise. Jack paused, one foot on the running board, and stared at her; while Nancy gasped: "But—but you can't be! Why Cousin Columbine's a feeble old lady over seventy!"

"Over seventy, I'll admit," alleged their companion, her eyes twinkling, "but not so feeble as she led you to believe. Stop staring at me, Jack. If it's the middie blouse you'll just have to get used to it. A middie's a life-saver in a place like Pine Ridge where there's no dressmaker. I welcomed them with joy when they came into fashion years ago; and I shall continue to wear them fashion or no fashion, as long as they can be bought by mail. The red ones are for gala occasions like the present. Usually I wear blue. Here comes our driver. Will you kindly testify that my name is Nelson, Mark? These young folks seem to be unbelieving."

Mark Adam laughed as he swung into the driver's seat.

"It is unless she got married when I dropped her at the Court House two hours back," he stated. "I saw that cop give you an admiring glance, Miss Columbine."

"Admiring!" Columbine Nelson smiled contemptuously. "It's more likely he was thinking: 'There's that old freak come down from Pine Ridge again.' Stop at the Cash and Carry for a box of canned stuff, Mark; and then head for home or Matthew will get there first and not know where to put the luggage."

"Can't Aurora tell him?"

They had turned into a street that faced the mountain, from which Nancy could hardly take her eyes.

"Not Aurora. Tubbs," Cousin Columbine was saying. "She's so flustered at the idea of harem company that like as not she'd have him put those trunks in the bathroom. We have a bathroom, Nancy, which no doubt you'll be relieved to hear. There's only one other in the village, and that's in a summer cottage belonging to a rich of harem company. I went to the extravagance in 1914, just before the great war started over in Europe. I remember the date because I was christening the tub when the news came, and Aurora (her sister married a German, Otto Welsmuller up at Cripple Creek and as good a fellow as ever lived), came rushing upstairs with the paper. She actually pounded on the door, and shouted: 'Miss Columbine! Miss Columbine! Don't bother to wash. The Germans have started fighting."

Do you suppose, our Otto will have to go?" Aurora's apt to get flustered in an emergency, but I never saw her so worked up."

This brought a laugh; and Mark said dryly: "I didn't know we'd ever had a christening in Pine Ridge, Miss Columbine. Too bad that party was interrupted by a war."

"It wasn't," retorted the old lady. "I called back: 'Keep still, Aurora. This is the first tub bath I've had since my mother washed me in a tin dish pan with only a covered wagon for privacy, and I wouldn't cut it short if the whole German army was on the lawn.' I could tell she was mad by the way she thumped downstairs, but she got over it before I put on my clothes. Here comes Matthew now. Slow down. I'm going to stop him."

She signalled wildly, and a truck drew up beside them, though it seemed to Nancy that both vehicle and the driver did so with reluctance. The latter started to remove his hat, found he had none on, and blushed furiously. The truck emitted a sort of groan.

"If you reach home first, Matthew, just sit and wait till we get there," ordered Miss Columbine. "You can tell Aurora I said to give you a slice of chocolate cake. And this is as good a time as any to make you acquainted with my cousins, Nancy and Jack Nelson. Don't drive recklessly up the pass and lose those trunks over the edge, will you? I dare say they're valuable, and I don't trust your driving as I do Mark's."

"Yes'm," responded Matthew nervously. "I'll be glad to meet you. I'll be careful, Miss Columbine."

He reached for his hat again, found it still missing, blushed redder, and started the truck with such a jolt that empty milk cans careened drunkenly in the rear. Such confusion amused his brother, and a quiet laugh escaped from Nancy. She said: "He's really bashful, isn't he?"

"Born that way," responded Cousin Columbine.

"And so good looking!" observed Nancy.

They had stopped at a traffic signal, and their driver turned his head a little to say over his shoulder: "The family beauty."

"Nancy couldn't restrain a giggle, and Jack laughed outright; but Cousin Columbine remarked severely: 'If you expect me, or anybody in Pine Ridge to contradict you, young man, you'll be disappointed. In no day it wasn't considered modest to fish for compliments. The green light's on, boy. Why don't you get along?'"

"Too crushed to move," he told her, and proceeded to start the engine as quietly as its age allowed. "I'll park somewhere on a side street, Miss Columbine. There's no space in front of the Cash and Carry; but I'll walk over and get your box. It's only half a block."

Eager to stretch his legs, Jack offered assistance; and as the boys strode off the old lady remarked critically: "Jack's thin, isn't he? Grown too fast, most likely, and been cooped up in school. A year in the open will do wonders for him."

Nancy thought, with sudden comprehension: "A year! Does she expect us to stay that long?" but managed to answer: "That's why Mother let him come. The doctor said he needed outdoor life more than a diploma."

A BARBER WHO HAD RHEUMATISM

Tells How He Carried On

A barber who had been "a martyr to rheumatism" writes:—

"I have been a martyr to rheumatism for some ten years. For five years I was so affected that it was with the greatest difficulty I was able to carry on my business. I may say I am a barber by trade. After having tried numerous remedies, I was finally advised to try Kruschen. I am pleased to say that after having used Kruschen for some twelve months, I am now free from aches and pains than I have been for some ten years. In fact I consider I am rid of rheumatism, thanks to Kruschen Salts."—W. M.

Two of the ingredients of Kruschen Salts are the most effectual solvents of uric acid known to medical science. They swiftly dull the sharp edges of the painful crystals, then convert them into a harmless solution. Other ingredients of these Salts have a stimulating effect upon the kidneys, and assist them to expel the dissolved uratic needles through the natural channel.

Little Helps For This Week

"He heathen the broken in heart and blindeh up their wounds. He telleh the number of the stars and calleh them all by name. Psalm 147:3-4.

Teach me your mood O patient

Who climb each night the ancient sky,

Leaving on space no shade, no

No trace of age, no fear to die.

Look up to the heavens and the quietness of the stars would seem to reproach you. "We are safe up here," they seem to say, "we shine fearless and confident, for the God who gave the primrose its rough leaves to hide it from the blast of uneven springs hangs us in the awful hollow of space. We cannot fall out of His safety. Lift up your eyes on high and behold; who hath created these things that bringeth out their host by number? He calleth them all by names. By the greatness of His might, for He is strong in power, not one faith."

A gooseberry bush bearing a fuchsia flower was among the rarities exhibited at the Royal Oxfordshire Horticultural Society's Show.

Come Awa' wi' Us to Stony's One Big Day. Monday, July First.

The Sporting Editor's weatherman predicts a fine day for us on July 1st; basing his prognostication on the assumption that Jupiter Pluvius will have used up all his rain material before that date.

However, comma, despite the recent successive moist afternoons and damp fine evenings, the committees are working overtime at their respective duties; and we will be greatly surprised if their combined efforts for a colossal, unsurpassed and stupendous Sports Day don't make last year's effort look like a sold tamale, by comparison.

The Sports Committee has been busy, and now has a list of to-be-run sporting and athletic events as long as your arm. This list is now receiving its finishing touches at the hands of that capable sports promoter Hen. Trapp.

The half-sheet posters are out, giving full particulars of the attractions for that day, which include some new items.

Oh, yes! Mr. Christie, convenor of the Bun and H. D. Committee, has his plans for the day all laid; and you're assured of a hearty welcome and plenty to eat, at the Refreshment pavilion. Mr. Christie is said to be the author of the slogan "In the Midst of Plenty"; and that's where you'll always find Jim—in the midst of plenty.

Edmonton Beach.

Rumors of water at Edmonton Beach being condemned, or that there was an outbreak of communicable disease at this summer resort have been denied by the Provincial Health Dept.

Officials recalled that such rumors come along each year, and are shown to have no foundation.

"We have no reports of any cases there," said Dr. A. McGlough, director of communicable disease for the Provincial Health Dept. He added that no complaints as to the condition of the water had been brought to the attention of the department. Mr. Barrie has leased his business to R. Wrigley, formerly of Cadomin, under a 3-year agreement.

"RUMORS AFLOAT"!

(From The Edison Signal, June 13, 1935.)

There are many speculations as to the date of the Provincial election, the latest being that it will be held off until September, to give the UFA Government, it is presumed, time to line up their forces in the light of the Douglas interim report. The UFA party is jockeying for time; Mr. Howson is spoiling for the scrap, and Mr. Aberhart has declared that a delayed election will give him the little extra time he needs to consolidate his forces. All three parties are playing a pretty fair brand of politics with the scoring in favor of the junior member of the trio (in point of experience), Mr. Aberhart. And in spite of the fact that there are rumors afloat that Mr. Aberhart's party is on the decline, the chances are that Mr. Aberhart will have a majority in the next Provincial Legislature.
